Field Checklist of Birds Breaks Interstate Park

DATE TIME
WEATHER
OBSERVERS

This region of Southwest Virginia/Eastern Kentucky is best known for its nesting birds, especially the Wood Warblers and Vireos. Scarlet Tanagers, Wood Thrushes, Cuckoos (both yellow and black-billed) as well as several Flycatcher species are also regular breeding birds found in this region. Spring and Fall migration also provide good opportunities for birders to see many other species as they move through our forests. This checklist includes birds occurring regularly in this region, with a brief note of their status.

Seasonal Status:

S -- summer resident

W -- winter resident

M -- migrant

P -- present at all seasons (may include migratory populations moving through)

Abundance Status:

- u -- uncommon. Regular, but not expected every day, even in prime habitat and season.
- r -- rare. Occurs in very small numbers, and might not be found every year.
- x -- very rare. Found in this area and season only a few times per decade.
- loc -- local. Found regularly in only a very small part of this area.
- irr -- irregular. Numbers variable from year to year. Might be common or nearly absent.
